Noted for the scenic beauty of its surroundings, the Kankakee River winds its way through a region once inhabited by the Pottawatomies. The town, named for the river down which Cavalier de La Salle once sailed, is the only one in the world that bears the name. It is derived from the Pottawatomic title, Ti-yar-ac-ka, meaning "wonderful land."

Kankakee was first settled by the French Canadians in 1833 and is now one of the leading retail centers in the Middle West, with fifty-five manufacturing plants and nineteen modern, well-equipped schools, including Kankakee High.

A School of Many Moods — Sunlight and Shadows Mingled With Study and Daydreams

Kankakeean
1940

Truly representative of a people at peace with God and men—Kankakee High School . . . . . Kankakee, Illinois . . . . . forty-one teachers, administrative staff of four . . . . . record enrollment of one thousand forty-four in 1940, including eight postgraduates.

Classes first held March 7, 1927, with total enrollment of five hundred ninety . . . . . one thousand four hundred forty-one graduates in last ten years . . . . . accredited member of North Central Association.

Student Council . . . . . fifteen clubs, two choruses, seventy-piece band . . . . . athletic teams in South Suburban League . . . . . yearbook and biweekly newspaper.

Fifty steps from first floor to third . . . . . one thousand seventeen lockers . . . . . forty-nine typewriters in commercial department . . . . switchboard in office operating forty-two telephones.

Cafeteria managed on non-profit basis . . . auditorium with twelve hundred eighty-five seats . . . library, sixty-foot swimming pool, gymnasium, track and football field.

Vivian Lane and Bill Jack, school host and hostess, tell Raymond Fields, freshman, a few things about K. H. S.

I like school. I really do. I feel that school has everything to offer me. There are so many things I don't know—don't even have the slightest idea about—and the easiest place I can learn is at school.

Here I can meet people mentally, as well as socially. Friends to be gained are in every classroom. I know and call many of these my friends—yet there are so many more that I want to include—so many more I want to know.

Now that I am about to leave, I can understand why the class days have been more fun than Saturdays and Sundays. I'm positive I didn't mind study. Every minute spent at work, although at times exasperating, has given me pleasure.

I'm only human and would like to have been popular; still I haven't lost much. The activities I took part in appealed to me immensely, and even if I wasn't outstanding, sports and parties were always fun. I like school.

People — Those I Know and Those I'd Like to Know

Mr. Munson

Here we have vocational guidance in action. Superintendent Irving Munson is in conference with two students. They are making an analysis of the possibilities in several fields of endeavor. The superintendent is leading the students to study themselves. "What do I have?" "How do I use it?" "Can I control myself?" "Will I be satisfied?" "Can I adjust myself to such work?" and numerous other questions are under discussion.

He Helps Us Help Ourselves

A leader in civic and school affairs—Mr. Irving Munson, superintendent of Kankakee schools. He is president of the county division of the American Red Cross and the local Rotary Club.

In the six short years he has been here, Mr. Munson has concentrated on cutting down the percentage of failures. His success in this is due largely to gaining information about the individual pupil through various tests and personal interviews. This information is invaluable to teachers in guiding students in selecting the right course.

Superintendent Munson has an A. B. from Augustana College and an A. M. from the University of Illinois. He is well known in this section of the state for his extensive study of Lincoln.

Friendly salutations and sincere interest in the boys and girls of K. H. S. have won for him their general respect and friendship.

Efficient Adjuster Of Our Problems

Mr. Allison

Our principal, who acknowledges our perfections and minimizes our faults—Mr. R. Y. Allison, A. B., A. M. Recognizing increased development of the vocational guidance program as one of the school's strongest needs, he is wholeheartedly in favor of the new program.

Placing the student in the right classes is an important factor in registering each student. There is no student in school whose program Mr. Allison has not arranged. Through his office come all contacts between teacher, student, and parent.

Further contact is maintained even after students leave school, for almost every recent alumnus who applies for a job or continues his education must have his records sent from Mr. Allison's office.

From an area of five square miles in the center of Kankakee County come most of the students of Kankakee High. Since 1865, when the district was first organized, the city schools have been administered by a board of six members. Two members are elected each August. President of the board is Mr. Alfred Beaumont; clerk, Mr. Ed Hoennicke.

For students outside the district attending Kankakee High, the school receives $10,000 in tuition. The principal sources of financial support of the high school, however, are local taxes and state aid. The yearly revenue of the city school system totals $231,000. Of this amount, $210,000 is derived from local school tax and the rest from state funds.

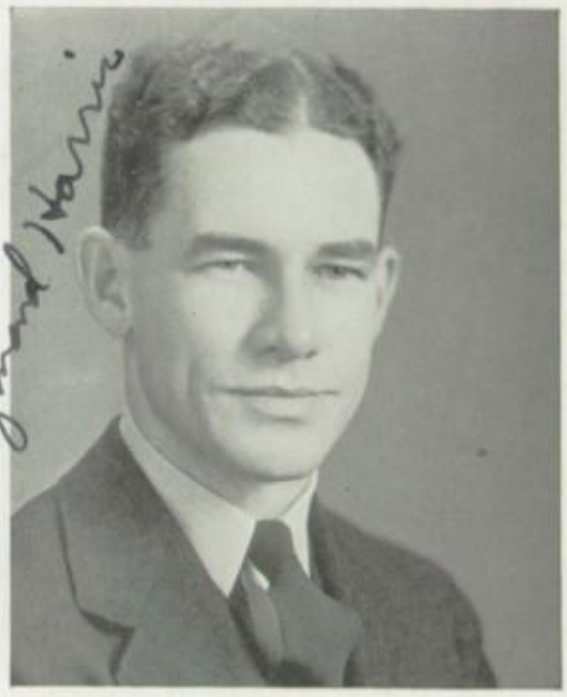
They Take Us Seriously

Gentle and understanding, helpful and kind—Kankakee High School's versatile Dean of Girls, Miss Helen A. Shuman. The same qualities which have made her so successful as a dean and adviser of the student government organization account for her position as president of the Kankakee Business and Professional Women's Club.

Making out vocational questionnaires for seniors, assisting in the publication of the homeroom bulletin, and arranging meetings between interested seniors and college representatives are evidences of Miss Shuman's activities in the vocational guidance program.

Number one stimulator of intramural sports at Kankakee High is Assistant Principal Raymond Harris. Under his sponsorship an organized intramural sports program has won widespread approval.

Since his advent to K. H. S. in 1938, Mr. Harris has become well liked by students and teachers for his keen wit and constant good humor in carrying out his duties as assistant principal and commercial law instructor.



The unifying factors in K. H. S. —the offices. In Mr. Munson's office center the administrative activities of the system. Here, Miss Jessie Greely, at the left, writes receipts for student fees and with a smile carries out her duties as Mr. Munson's secretary.

In the principal's office, lower left, Mr. Allison is explaining registration requirements to Edward Moroff, Patricia Radeke, and Eldon Rorem. Scholastic, attendance, and punctuality records of each student are instantly available from the files kept by Miss Celesta Fruin, secretary to Mr. Allison. Lower right, this happy alumna of K. H. S. supplies some desired information for Donald Tyson and Maxine Stang.

Hoping you'll get well quick!
"Tracy Lacy"???

Again the forty-some teachers of this institution through the past thirty-nine weeks have tried to lead the more than one thousand students into paths of better understanding and added knowledge. The task, as before, hasn't been easy.

Almost every student, however, has imprinted upon his mind one or more incidents that he has enjoyed with his teacher. Each teacher, likewise, will remember these faces for a long time to come. This is what made going to school a pleasure and not a drudgery.

A new counselor to the students, but the renewal of old acquaintance for the faculty, was the new English teacher, Miss Marion Inkster, a graduate of this school in 1933.

It has been said that a teacher doesn't and can't make a pupil learn. The student can only listen to what the instructor has to say or illustrate and then grasp the problem for himself.

Seldom, therefore, does the teacher stand over each pupil trying by authority to drive knowledge into the learner's skull. Instead, there is a trend toward classroom democracy, with the teacher doing the guiding, but the pupil working to accomplish the actual learning himself.

That is the way the job of teaching is run at Kankakee High, where the chief aim of the teaching corps is to prepare every boy and girl for good citizenship and satisfying living.

And Frequently We Appreciate It

The Teachers Say They Like Their Work

After students have outlined their high school program with the aid of their homeroom teachers, comes the immense task of registering. Twice a year one week is devoted to arranging the individual programs for the coming semester. Registration week finds Mr. Allison, Miss Shuman, Miss Fruin, Miss Nichols, Mr. Harrison, and Mr. Harris, assisted by students, filling in cards and filing information.

In the mathematics department: Miss Gwendolen Ingli, A. B., A. M.; Mrs. Carrie Jannsen, B. S.; Miss Sara Larson, A. B., B. Ed.; Miss Lula Martin, B. S.; Miss Martha Montgomery, B. S.

Teachers around school: Mr. Harris goes out for a coke. Miss Nichols and Miss Inkster cheer. Mr. Howard, Delmar Hisel, and Mr. Weller find an "unknown."

In 206, Miss Jeffers and Miss McGinnis discuss history. Miss Montgomery works in study hall. Teachers Carmody, Kranz, Shuman, and Dapron relax.

Miss Reynolds gives help. "Dyke," All-American then and now. Miss Ingli, Mrs. Jannsen, and Miss Martin confer. The K. Smiths hop at the football dance.

Don Sublette, senior class president, "recites" Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" from the plaque, as Marge Yocom, secretary-treasurer, and Dave Wood, vice-president, listen attentively.

Seniors

In September of 1936, two hundred thirty-six newcomers had their first uncertain but well-remembered day in high school. They were given four guiding sponsors: Miss Rosetta Gernon, Miss Sara Larson, Miss Marie Beardslee, and Mr. Keith Smith. Officers for this year were Bonnie Hendrix and Paul Cary.

As sophomores, these students learned the "whys" and "wherefores" of clubs, sports, and studying. Elsie Mae Lambert, Betty Hill, and Patty Poyer were their leaders.

The junior year brought a play, "Hoosier Schoolmaster," and a prom in carnival setting. Vivian Lock, Elmer Anderson, and John Burns directed class activities.

Donald Sublette, David Wood, and Marjorie Yocom took charge the fourth year. The class play, "Uncle Cy Hits a New High," was staged on April 25. Teaching, eighth periods, and office duties were among the responsibilities assumed by the senior student-teachers on May 3.

The closing baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Dore N. Ester, pastor of the First Evangelical Church. Graduation night arrived on May 31, after which the one hundred sixty graduating members of the class of '40 departed to seek further education, employment, and fortune, leaving memory-filled high school days behind them.

Students Around School—On The Steps, Senior Party, The Prom, Assemblies.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Avis Moffet, Miss Lula Martin, Miss Shirley Jeffers, and Mr. Eugene Dykstra, the two hundred eleven juniors have had a busy year. In the picture, opposite page, Raymond Anderson, vice-president, talks with Jean Offerman, president, and Wayne Pearson, secretary-treasurer. On November 16, the excited "Going on Seventeen" actors gave that memorable play; on May 16, the class, after weeks of hard work, presented their prom, using an Hawaiian jungle theme.

Ah, an amoeba! Or is it a paramecium? Biologists Balthazor, McCaughey, and Seidholz make a study of microscopic life, a typical example of classroom study and discussion augmented by work in the laboratory. Courses take on added interest when routine work is supplemented with panel discussions, orations, semester reports, lab experiments, moving pictures, and office practice.

SCIENCE

Preferred

Applied science — John Carruthers and Melvin Dortch hook up the microphone. Miss Webb explains a few flower facts to Rita Klima, Pat McDaniel, and Carol Jacquet. Facing front in chem lab are Dale Learned, Guy Green, Wayne Simpson, Dave Mershon, and Talmadge Allen.

To students whose interest in the science courses impels them to seek the pleasure of increased knowledge and activity in that field, the Edisonian and Byrd Science clubs offer membership. The organizations are sponsored by the science teachers. Activities are both interesting and educational. Perhaps their greatest service is the encouragement of members through movies, lectures, and field trips to see a more intensified practical appliance of the knowledge offered in the five science courses.

The Byrd Science Club is composed of members of the General Science classes and other freshmen interested in science. Members visited a broadcasting studio, the planetarium, and Field Museum on their annual Chicago trip.

Norma Jean Davis is president; Rosemary Coe, vice-president; Edward Reno, secretary; and Thomas Hemstreet, treasurer. Sponsors are the General Science instructors, Miss Pearl Scaggs and Miss Ruth Cole. At Christmas time the scientists gave a party, and in May they sponsored a tea dance.

The Edisonian Science Club is composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Beginning the year on a not too serious note, they entertained themselves at an hilarious picnic at Rock Creek. Telephone, camera, and other scientific demonstrations were a few of the programs at monthly meetings. Miss Jennie Webb and Mr. Clifford Howard are sponsors.

Each year the club takes a spring trip. This year, on March 30, twelve members, accompanied by Mr. Howard, attended the annual electrical show at the University of Illinois, where they were much impressed with the modern inventions on exhibit. Officers of the club are Barbara Johnston, president; Margery Costello, vice-president; and Louise Simpson, secretary-treasurer.

BUSINESS

A busy organization is the Commercial Club. Throughout the year, the one hundred twenty-five members enjoyed varied activities under the sponsorship of Miss Edith Carmody and Miss Vera Baker for the first semester, and Miss Elsie Freitag, Miss Ruth Beauvais, and Miss Margaret Reynolds for the second semester. President for the year was Harry Schrey; vice-president, Ruth Richter; and secretary-treasurer, Doris Heinig.

Activities consisted of movies; speeches given by Mr. Curry, former member of the faculty; Mr. Henrekin, Secretary of the Kankakee Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Strasma of the Credit Bureau, and Mr. Wunderlich of the Illinois Employment Service; a picnic at Rock Creek; an assembly program; and a picnic in the cafeteria, with the postgraduates as guests.

Jobs Demand Skill

On the third floor is found the commercial department. Here students taking the business course learn stenography, bookkeeping, typewriting, commercial law, and office practice.

Six teachers are needed to carry on the work of educating the two hundred fifty-three students enrolled, and this year two classes of office practice had to be offered.

So busy is it, that many students were glad to see the office-practice students go out into positions for the last five weeks of school, for it gave others the use of the typewriting rooms two extra periods for practice.

To add to the interest of the courses, local businessmen spoke to the office-practice students; stenographers, as well as typists, were given the opportunity to enter contests; and the typing students broke away from straight copy work in helping the office by filling out grade cards and helping the teachers by stenciling and mimeographing copies of examinations and plays.

During the last few years, the department has increased in efficiency through the installation of new typewriters every year, a money-saving filing system, and an adding machine—equipment which has given students the chance to learn simply, easily, and thoroughly, under the supervision of their instructors.

Math is a required subject, but, according to the sixteen boys and one girl taking trigonometry, it is one of the most interesting and useful studies in school. Students realize that some form of mathematics is used every day, from the simplest arithmetic to the more complicated solid geometry, from figuring grocery bills to designing bridges. Below is Arlene Hafstrom, getting a few pointers on algebra from Miss Montgomery.

"Hurry up, you guys," says Beaudoin to the line of boys in front of him, waiting to use the bandsaw. Walters and Cluney are interested in the camera at the moment. Nelson is holding up the works for Brown, right behind him. Bertrand is helping himself to wood, while Mr. McKinley looks on.

Over a hundred boys in five classes take manual training, making everything from knick-knacks to cedar chests, developing hobbies and preparing for jobs. Mr. Fowler McKinley and Mr. Euclid Lambert are instructors.

Beginning the year with a picnic at Bird Park, the Franklin Booth Art Club kept very busy when the members weren't sketching, designing advertising posters, or wielding paint brushes. A Thanksgiving party, popcorn ball and candy sale, tea dance on March 29, an assembly program, and the annual May day supper were among the club's entertainments.

Under the leadership of Co-Presidents Marlene Changnon and Hortense Evans, and Vice-President Verna Davis, the club held bi-weekly meetings, where they carried out projects planned by Delmar Jeneary, activities chairman.

The sponsor, Mrs. Hattie Bell Dapron, Treasurer Steve Nickols, and Secretary Dale Sutherland helped in making this a profitable year.

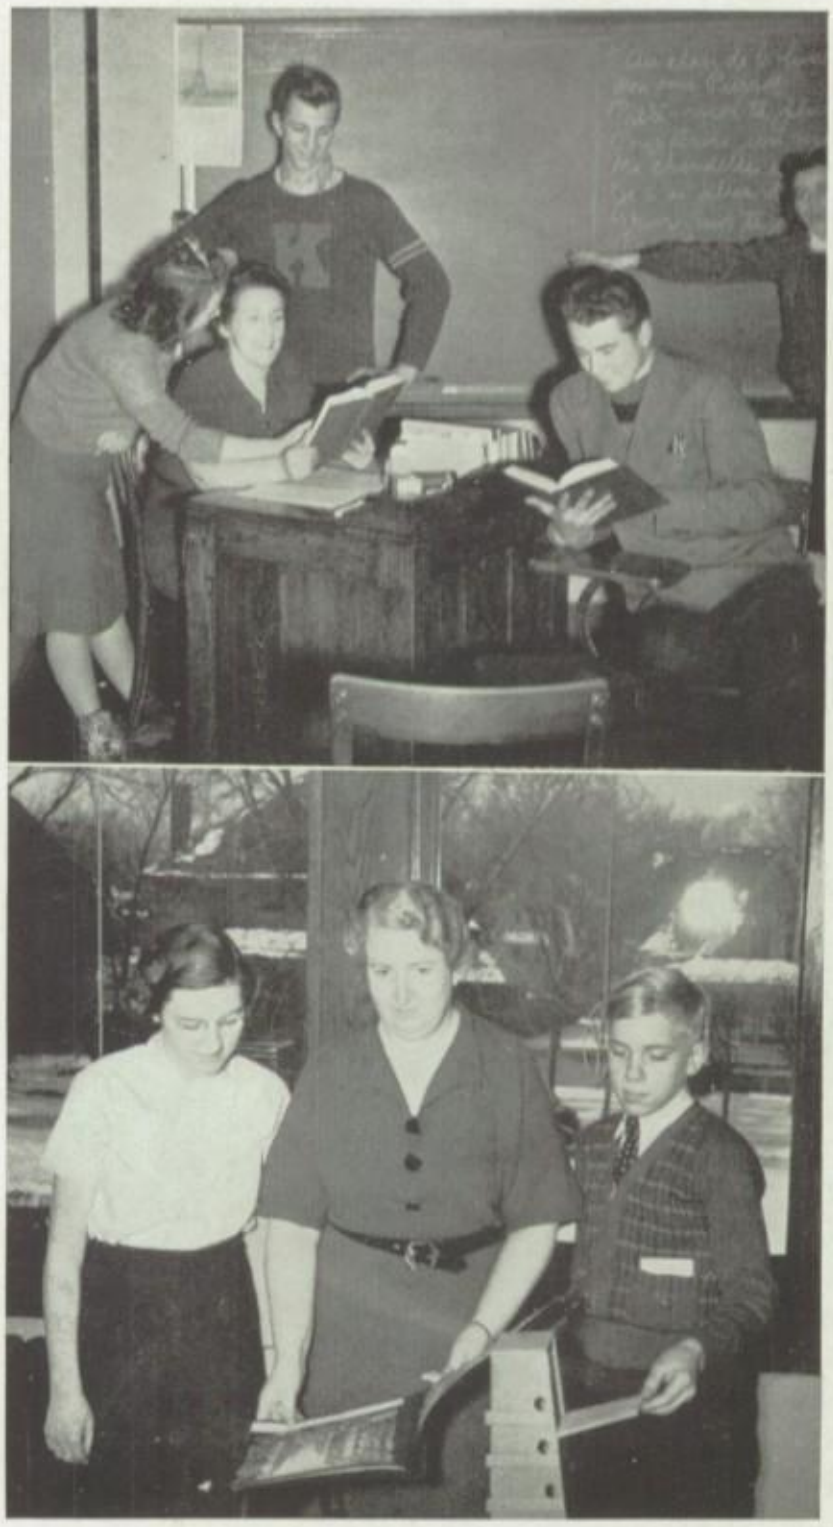
Latin

Starting the year right, the Societas Latina held their annual fall picnic last September. Afterwards the members attended a short meeting led by the newly-elected officers: president, Patty Pottenger; vice-president, Mary Beth Piersol; and secretary, Mildred Johnson.

Selecting a theme for each month, the officers, aided by the sponsors, Miss Marie Beardslee and Miss Avis Moffet, centered meetings around them. To create interest, songs were translated into Latin, "Oh Johannes Oh" being a favorite. To earn the hearts served Valentine's Day, everyone translated a verse into Latin. "Amasne me?" was easy for some.

The club carried out successfully a leap year tea dance. The girls took advantage of the chance to ask their favorite heroes. In April, a few members, appropriately dressed, portrayed a Roman wedding. Both the audience and the participants were amused and interested.

To end the year with as much fun as it started, the club held another picnic. The spring event concluded the successful 1939-1940 season.



In the upper picture are Marge Smith, Bill Warren, and Ed Greening enjoying the French jokes Miss Gernon is translating.

Below is Miss Moffet discussing Latin projects for the April 12 Open House with Marian More and Barton Hinkle.

French

As one hears the closing words "Marchons! Marchons! Qu'un sang impur, abreuve nos sillons!" of the French national anthem, "La Marseillais," he knows that another meeting of the French Club has come to a close. These meetings are conducted in the cafeteria once a month.

The mid-term saw the initiation of several new members. Such tactics as walking the plank, giving a leap year proposal, and rolling a bean across the table top with their noses, were used by Marlene Changnon, Bill Warren, and Priscilla Streeter, the initiation committee.

Officers elected were Barbara Johnston, president; Marlene Changnon, vice-president; and Willard Drazy, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Rosetta Gernon, an excellent sponsor, was active in helping plan the annual spring party, where everyone who attended had a wonderful time.

VOICES

In room 315, voices bring to the listening history class a little more detail about social security by means of panel discussions based upon the American Observer. In this discussion are Marilouise Lambert, George Hodak, and James Downs.

In room 305, voices debate the National Forensic League question: "Resolved that the federal government should own and operate the railroads." Simpson, Anderson, Mr. Weller, Warren, and Westen gather around Dornburg, president of the club.

In room 203, voices are raised in song and merriment as the 2A French students sound an "ah" and proceed to warble their favorite round, "Frere Jacques," with Mlle. Gernon leading. Friday singing is almost traditional.

In room 208, voices enunciate and pronounce under the helpful supervision of Miss Tull. Pictured is Mary Lower, delivering to the public speaking class a speech on the advantages of democracy.

HOMEMAKERS

Prepare For The Future

"To form a connective link between the home and school"—that is the aim toward which the Home Economics Club has progressed during its eleven years of service in K. H. S.

This year, forty new members were initiated and received, as badges, the club's lavender and yellow ribbons. The girls heard interesting speakers, made trips, attended a convention, held candy sales, and presented an assembly.

Miss Venita Harter, beauty school manager, spoke at one meeting and gave to each girl a card for a free facial. Such was the type of program which made Home Ec so enjoyable.

Next year's freshman girls were invited to one club entertainment. This was a guidance project planned to acquaint these students with home economics courses and with the high school.

The officers, Betty Eckert, Maxine Pippin, and Hilda McIntosh, with the aid of Miss Alice Stone and Miss Grace Coulter, the sponsors, worked steadily to serve the members.

Bang Goes The Gavel! Discussion Begins

Democratic in principle and spirit, the first student government organization was inaugurated here in 1930. Members are elected by the homerooms, officers by the entire student body. Total membership of the Student Council this year was thirty-nine.

President Elmer Anderson, Vice-President Raymond Anderson, and Secretary Priscilla Streeter saw that business was discussed, order preserved, and minutes kept during meetings of one of the most active Councils the school has known. Miss Helen A. Shuman is the faculty adviser.

The Council meets in the library on Monday during homeroom period. Reports of committees are heard, old and new business discussed. Meetings are conducted according to parliamentary procedure.

For efficiency, the Council is divided into five committees. Routine business and any new business which requires investigation may be referred to the appropriate committee.

This year the Council sponsored seven tea dances arranged by the social committee. The organization also directed the annual honor assembly and the intramural sports program. Seven special assemblies were presented as a result of the Council's special assembly program.

Remember the Senior day? It was the first in the history of the school. A special committee was appointed to work with the Council activities committee in making arrangements. Another "first" was the adoption of a Council pin for permanent use.

In October the local Council was host to the district covention. Marjorie McCracken was elected district secretary. George Morrow, Elmore Clawson, Patricia Pottenger, James Downs, Raymond Anderson, Marjorie McCracken, and Elmer Anderson represented Kankakee at the State convention in Carbondale, April 26 and 27. The Kankakee delegation sponsored one discussion.

Frances Hattenburg, district Council secretary and editor of the first semester Kanka-Keynote; Fenton Bourgeois, representative of the second semester staff; Donald Sublette, senior class president; and Helen Hightower, elected representative of the editorial board of the Kankakeean, were ex-officio members.

Linking the library with the vocational guidance program, Miss Shuman gave each junior homeroom a talk on the vocational material available and showed them where the college catalogues and similar materials may be found.

Constantly increasing, the school library now has more than thirty-five hundred books. For students' pleasure, as well as knowledge, the library subscribes to thirty monthly magazines.

In the top picture Edward Clark, Richard Piersol, and Carmen Mayhew are seen selecting books for outside reading assignments. The more than a hundred students who daily visit 309 keep Miss Cora Scovill, librarian, and her student helpers busy. The click of the camera failed to disturb Bada Webster, Teresa Shires, Carol Jacquet, and Connie Rivard when the bottom picture was taken.

Assembly planners at the top are Frances Baker, Miss Waggoner, Bob Behrends, and Miss Freitag. In front are Mildred Coy, Mary Lehman, Phyllis Zeisler, Pat Pottenger, and George Morrow. The activities committee acted as the Council's right-hand man. At left center are Marge Hollister, Curtis Brandt, Jimmie Downs, and Ray Anderson. Dorothy Meehling, Miss Shuman, and Will Drazy are seated.

What would have become of our school spirit without the aid of the pep committee? At the lower left, pepsters are Ray English, "Red" Clawson, Katy Hill, Leroy Koch, Betty Hill, Janice Steinke, Melba Stella, and Spero Helopoulos. Here's the decorating of the building for the Christmas season. At work, upper center, are James Wildman, Don Sublette, Fred Herscher, and Darlene Christiansen.

"More tea dances" was the demand; and the social committee did its job. On the stairway are Pris Streeter, Pat Poyer, Marge McCracken, Jack Swaim, Elsie Lambert, and Jean Kammann. The building and grounds committee—Fred Herscher, Art Wesselhoff, Don Sublette, and James Wildman, talk with Engineer Craft. Officers Ray Anderson, Elmer Anderson, and Pris Streeter are at lower right.

THE KANKAKEEAN EDITORS, at top, are Helen Hightower, Marjorie Smith, Priscilla Streeter, and Dolores Busse. Below, Lock and Offerman, with Business Manager Christiansen in center.

Work that you like—

Who did that plate? Shall we identify the band or just say "Guess who?" What's the matter with this typewriter?

No, it's not an "Information, Please" program, merely the editorial board in the process of turning out a different yearbook. Staying on the subject was the girls' hardest job.

Viv and Ozz snapped most of the pictures in the 1940 Kankakeean. "Sparky' secured some good first shots as the deadline neared.

Editorial staff members were Nat, "Atlas," Jimmie, Betty McHie, and Louie. Delmar, Don, "Pudge," Ruth, and "Dig" gave assistance.

As business manager, "Christy" handled the bookkeeping, which involved hundreds of fifteen-cent installment payments, printing and engraving bills, and advertising money.

Financing was accomplished by the circulation and advertising chiefs, Bobbie and "Minnie." Roberta's staff was composed of Pauline, Dolores, Nettie, "Christy," Fenton, Dick, Louise, Marge Erzinger, and "Helop." Nettie's assistants were Junior, Pauline, Pris, Phyllis, Glenn, and Betty Reeves.

One by one the jobs of talking with salesmen, drawing the dummy, taking pictures, making up plates, writing copy, proof reading, checking and rechecking were finished.

Keeping tab on the staff's progress, answering innumerable questions, making assignments, and doing a dozen other jobs was the work of Miss Keefe, director.

"It was a lot of work and great fun," agree Editors Busse, "Street," Smith, and "High," as they speak of their work on the 1940 Kankakeean. They take with them fond memories of 207 and the staff, along with a better understanding and appreciation of the work, the play, and the people at K. H. S.

JOURNALISM

Tearing their hair trying to think of headlines, hastily putting together the facts of a last-minute story, and trying desperately to get a "scoop" came to be common experiences of the first and second semester Kanka-Keynote staffs working feverishly to meet deadlines.

The first semester staff set the pace with a free edition, which came out the first week of school, and a six-page Christmas issue. Sixteen Keynotes were published during the year. Climax of the second semester staff's work was the special eight-page pictorial edition given free to subscribers the last week of school.

Fourteen journalism students attended the N. S. P. A. convention in Chicago during Armistice week-end.

These were the members of the first and second semester staffs: Editor, first semester—Frances Hattenburg; Editorial Board, second semester—Frances Kruse, Nettie Sauberli, Fenton Bourgeois; Associate Editor, first semester—Helen Hightower; Business Manager—Darlene Christiansen, Betty McHie; Advertising—Jack Zopf, Pauline Palmateer; Circulation—Patricia Poyer and assistant, Donald Sublette; Richard Berghouse.

Sponsoring the first tea dance of the school year, the Quill and Scroll Society successfully carried out its plan of acquainting freshmen and upperclassmen.

Recognition from the national organization came to the chapter when Helen Hightower, vice-president, was named a national winner in a Quill and Scroll feature-writing contest.

President Dolores Busse officiated at the candle-lighting initiation. Pictured are Hattenburg, Busse, Hill, Smith, Zopf, Ennis, McHie, and Hinderer.

Other members are Secretary Christiansen, Streeter, Kruse, Simpson, Sauberli, and Nielsen. Pledges are Zeisler and Dornburg.

Keynote staffs: Diggle and Somers; Hattenburg at N. S. P. A. meet; Smith and Busse interview speaker; Zopf, Hill, Christiansen, Sublette, and Wood. Second Row: Sauberli; Kruse and Hightower make a deadline; Lock snaps Nance. Third Row: Berghouse, Oakley, Bourgeois check assignments; Streeter and Poyer; Hinderer, Johnston, and Palmateer prepare copy. Bottom Row: McHie, Mueller, and Simpson read proof; Davis, Erzinger, Ennis, Nielsen, and Helopoulos search for ideas.

Each year, the "K" cup is awarded by Kankakee alumni to the boy who has shown the most leadership, ability, and cooperation in high school athletics. This year it was exceptionally difficult to choose the most outstanding figure from among the K. H. S. athletes. Since the nomination was delayed until after the district track meet, the name of the winner could not be announced here. The cup was presented to the school in 1923 by the "K" lettermen.

The Kiwanis cups, most desired of the honor awards, were awarded for the fifteenth consecutive time to two outstanding graduating seniors. Candidates were judged on scholarship, leadership in school activities, and representation of the school in competition.

The committee which made the award included two seniors, one elected by the seniors and one appointed by the principal and the dean of girls. The other members of the committee were Mr. C. A. Rollison, president of the Kiwanis Club; Mr. R. Y. Allison; and Miss Helen Shuman.

The senior class nominated for the honor the following boys and girls: Dolores Busse, Marlene Changnon, Darlene Christiansen, Alvera Hamlyn, Frances Hattenburg, Helen Hightower, Betty Hill, Barbara Johnston, Elsie Mae Lambert, Betty McHie, Mary Beth Piersol, Constance Rivard, Louise Simpson, Goldie Stone, Priscilla Streeter, Marjorie Yocom, Elmer Anderson, John Burns, Willard Drazy, Frederick Herscher, Vivian Lock, and Donald Sublette.

As the yearbook goes to press, the winners are not known. Last year's honors went to Charlotte Stella and William Rogers.

Thirty-two students, named on the honor roll for at least four of the first five grade periods of this year, make up the Kankakeean honor list.

Those qualifying are Ruth Adam, Talmadge Allen, Raymond Anderson, John Atherton, Betty Baird, Elsie Baker, June Beadle, Hazel Betourne, Orville Busse, Elmore Clawson, Margaret Coghlan, John Dedas, Thomas Hemstreet, Barton Hinkle, June Hodgson, James Johnston.

Margaret Kozacik, Evelyn Kunde, Elsie Mae Lambert, Mary Ruth Lehmann, Dorothy Meehling, George Morrow, Doris Neumann, Richard Piersol, Bonnie Rogers, James Schneider, Betty Siefert, Wilma Speight, Jack Swaim, Wilma Wassmann, Risdon Westen, and Phyllis Zeisler.

The 1940 D. A. R. citizenship award was given to Alvera Hamlyn, president of G. A. A. She was chosen on the basis of dependability, leadership, service, and patriotism.

A vote of the teachers gave the honor to Alvera, after the seniors had selected three girls as the most outstanding of fifteen nominees. Betty Hill and Barbara Johnston were the other seniors considered.

Another honor given by the D. A. R. was the history award, which was presented to Elsie Mae Lambert. Elsie Mae maintained a 95.5 per cent average in United States history to qualify for the award, which is bestowed each year for excellence in that subject.

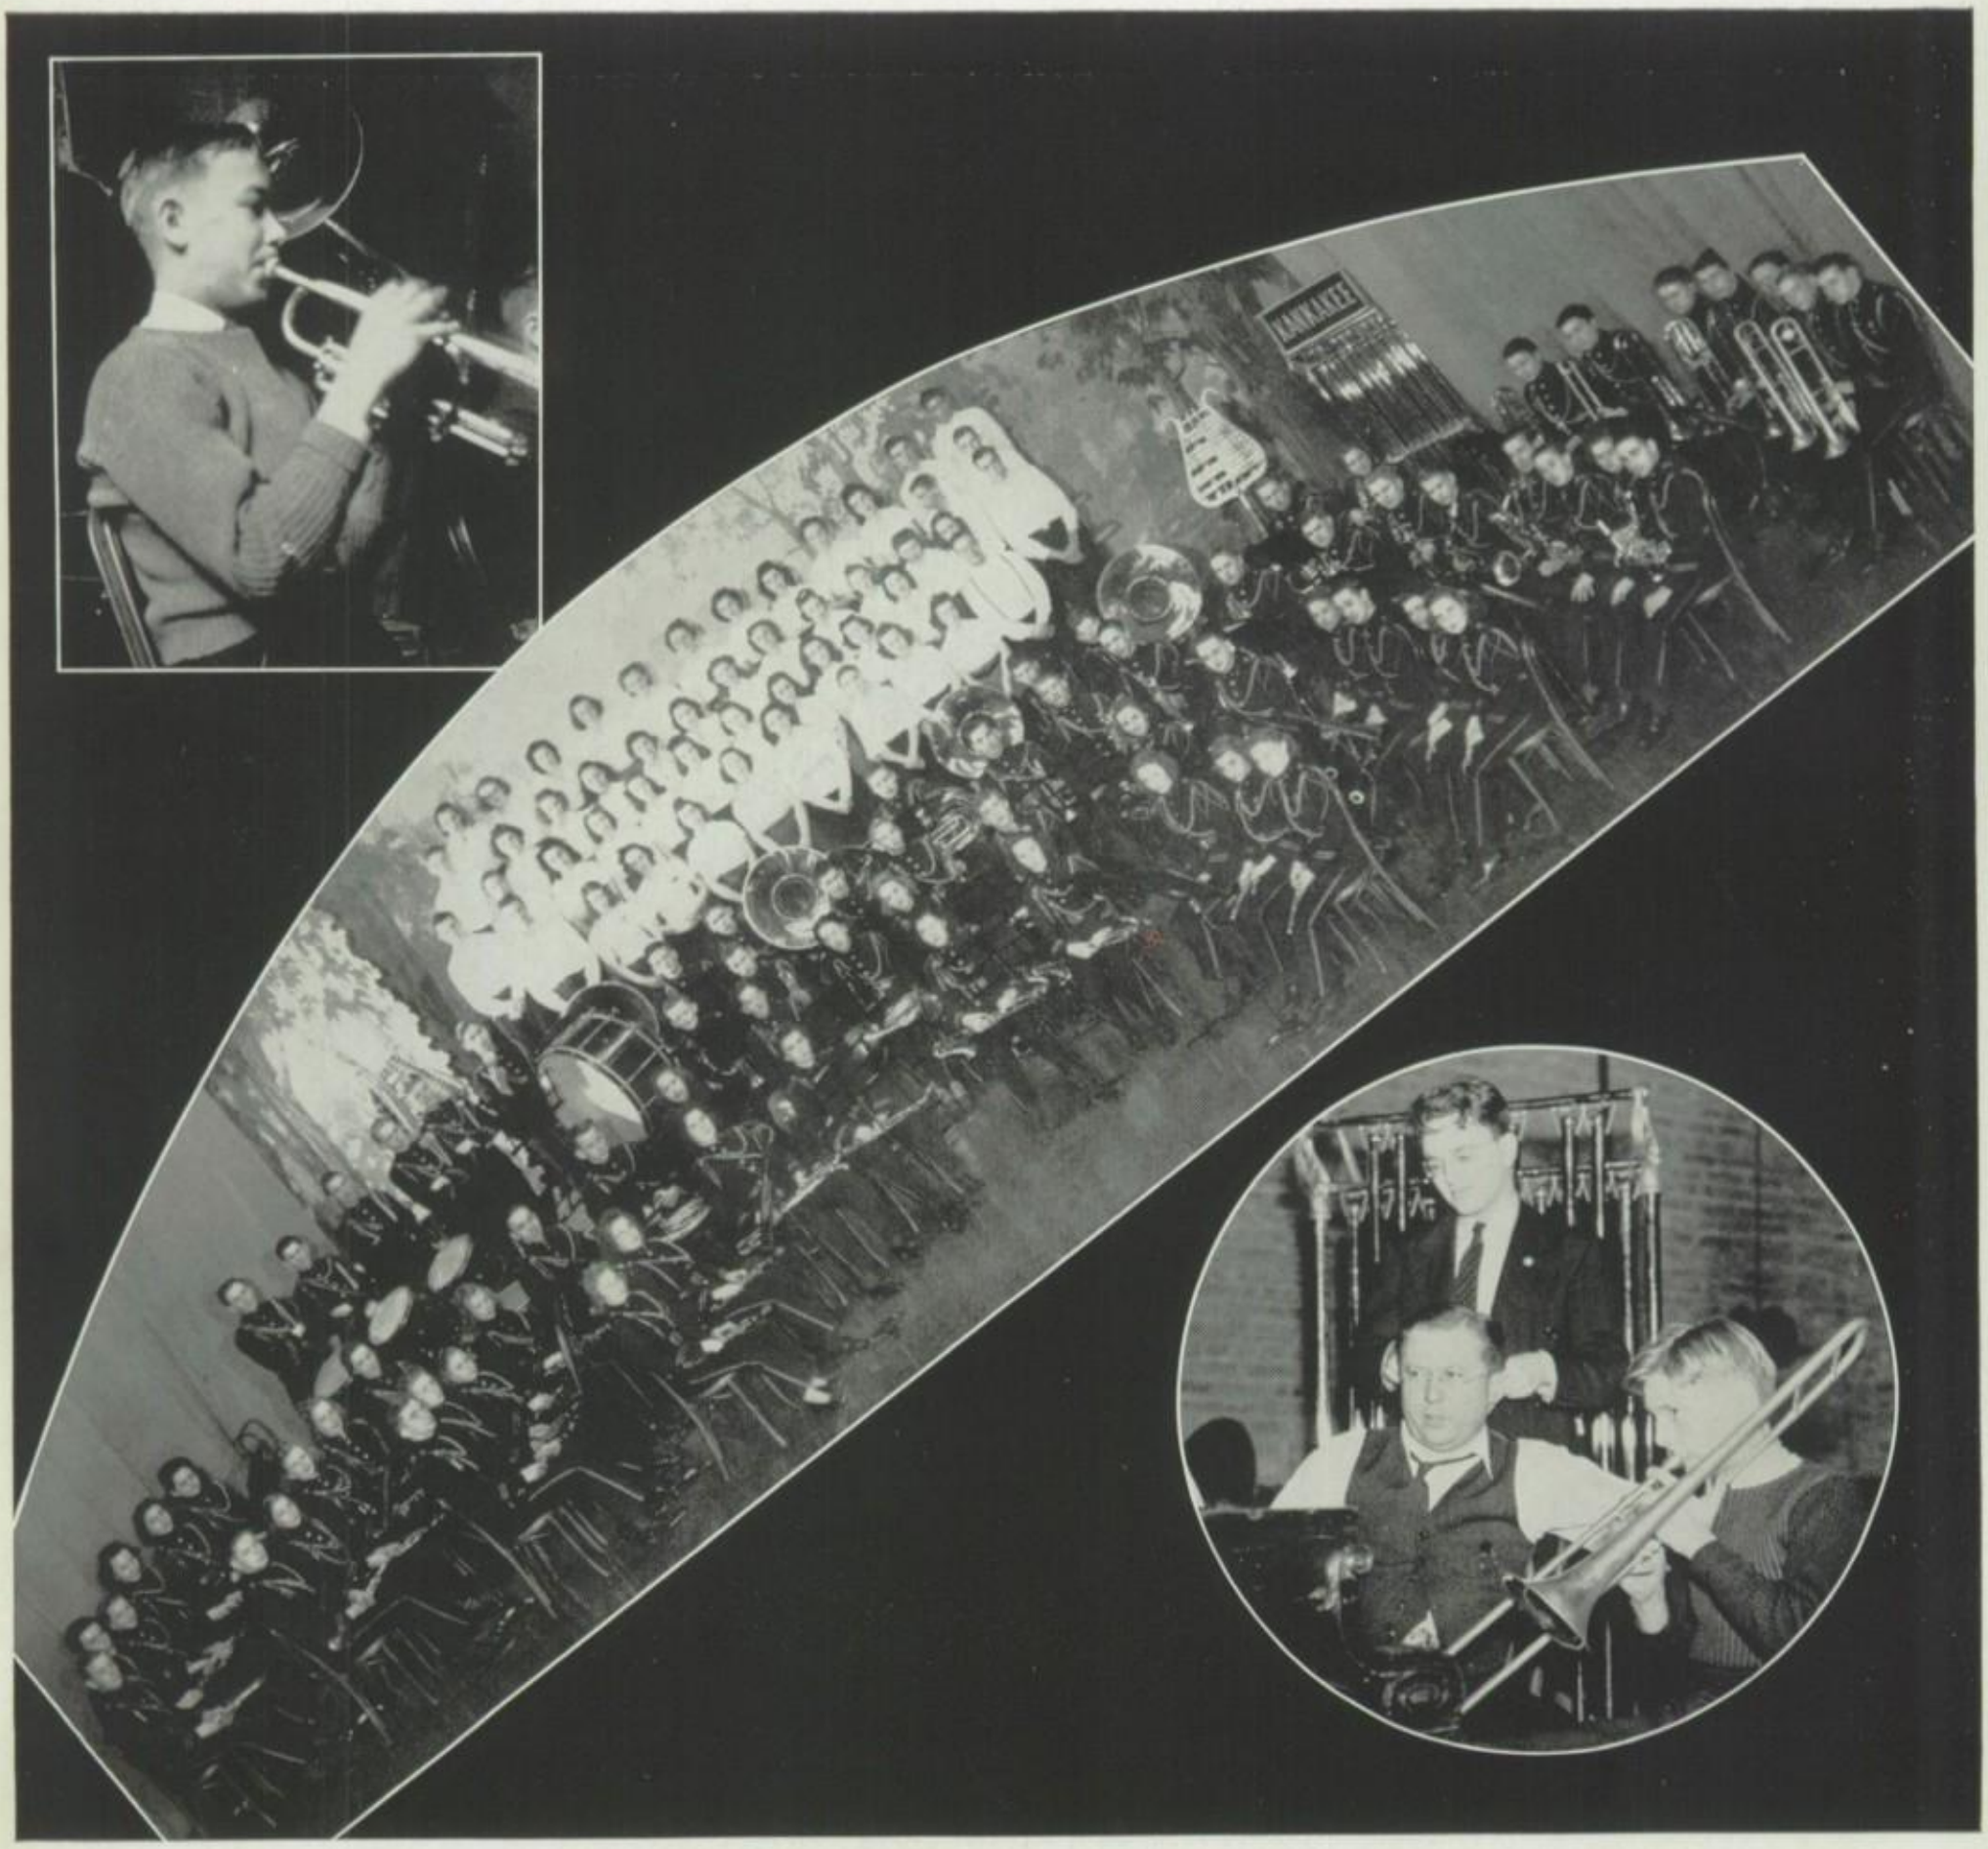
Heading a list of twenty seniors who have maintained an average of 90 or above in all their subjects throughout the four high school years, Elsie Mae Lambert has been named valedictorian of the graduating class of 1940. At the end of the second six weeks of the last semester, Elsie topped with an average of 93.14.

Elsie has belonged to the Commercial, Science, and Girl Reserve clubs. By planning her schedule for studying ahead of time and following it, she has been on the semester honor roll during her entire school life.

The other seniors achieving a 90 per cent average were Dolores Busse, Barbara Johnston, Goldie Stone, Frederick Herscher, Hazel Betourne, Marie Peterson, Alvera Hamlyn, Elmer Anderson, Marjorie Palenskee, Harriet Hixson, Dale Learned, Priscilla Streeter, Betty Maibauer, Louise Simpson, Eiliene Lemenager, Darlene Hults, Marjorie Yocom, Constance Rivard, and Arthur Diggle.

Chatter flies thick and fast as Cleone Raboin, Betty LaBeau, Carmen Mayhew, and Betty Eckert stand waiting for a ride uptown, where they will continue their discussions over cokes.

"... sports and parties were always fun."



Pride of The City—The Concert Band

Under the direction of Mr. George E. Piersol, the Kankakee High School Concert Band is striding ahead at an ever-increasing pace. For the first time in its history, the band played a repeat concert on February 12, after people were turned away from a capacity-filled auditorium on February 9, when the regular mid-winter concert was presented.

As a result of popular demand, the band presented its spring concert on two successive nights, May 22 and 23. Featured at both concerts were the three drum majors, the twirling corps of sixteen, and the newly-organized mixed chorus of seventy-five voices. This summer the band will camp in Indiana for one week.

Weekly practice requirement for all band members is one hundred fifty minutes. At top, Bob Wolf plays a flashy fanfare during a practice period. In the lower inset, Mr. Piersol takes Trombonist Ronald Rieken through a difficult strain, as Ronald Oertel looks on.

Girls

at K. H. S.

The Date Bureau party stands out vividly among the year's events; it is here that the Reserves entertained boy friends in leap year style.

For an assembly on April 2, the club presented an Hawaiian song, followed by a skit. "Three to Get Ready" centered around a very modern mother, Nancy Edgeworth; her three daughters, Helen LeBoeuf, Georgia Trombley, and Betty Hill; and their perplexed auntie, Catherine Cotsones.

A pleasure that all the girls would like to have experienced was the annual conference held at Bloomington. Only five were chosen to attend, Louise Simpson, Jean Kammann, Helen LeBoeuf, Betty Baird, and Doris Heinig.

"And we'll be jolly friends, forever more!" As ends a happy G. R. song, so comes to an end a happy and successful Girl Reserve year. Mondays that were filled with fun are gone, but in their place are pleasant memories.

Leaders of the one hundred seventy members were President Louise Simpson, Vice-President Patty Pottenger, Secretary Kathryn Hill, and Treasurer Ardis Martin. Interested and competent sponsors were Misses Martha Montgomery, Lula Martin, Sara Larson, and Helen Shuman. Activities at the "Y" were aided by Miss Marion Pinnow and Miss Sophia Munstedt, secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

Some of the meetings enjoyed this year at school were Miss Martin's talk on Hawaii, boy and girl discussions, and health programs. The best loved programs, however, were the monthly picnic suppers at the "Y", the annual Halloween party, the Christmas celebration for unfortunate children, and the Mothers' tea.

What do you do in Girls' Glee Club? Why, you sing. Sing songs like those two beautiful waltzes, "Tales from the Vienna Woods" and "My Hero," as well as those ever-popular songs—"Stardust" and "Alice Blue Gown"; and for that "different" song, you sing "Rimpianto Serenade."

This year, five girls, Marjorie Lee McCracken, Patty Pottenger, Marguerite Mackley, Charlene Smith, and Ruth Barton, were chosen to go to Urbana to join the All-State Chorus. The five came back telling of their very enjoyable time.

Leaders for the year were Ellen Potter, president; Jean Offerman, vice-president; Pat McDaniel, secretary; and Ruth Barton, treasurer. The girls were directed by Miss Olive Humphrey.

Talented Juniors And Seniors

The Drama Club, headed by President Frank Douglass, Vice-President Betty Trailer, Secretary Kathleen Burson, and Treasurer Georgia Trombley, is sponsored by Miss Pauline Tull and Miss Frieda Wehmhoff. They presented for their annual Christmas play, "Birds' Christmas Carol."

The junior play, "Going on Seventeen," will live in the cast's memory as one of the outstanding events of their high school days. "Going on Seventeen" was young, adventurous "Buddy," played by Maurice Klaiss, and his henchmen—Don Carstens and Wayne Simpson. Though the boys quarreled over vivacious Lillums, Beulah Rucker, they succeeded in capturing an embezzler, Delmar Jeneary, thus gaining fame for their "magazine." The heroine, Betty Trailer, later gave her love to a detective, Harry Schrey.

Other members of the cast were: Harold Heiss and Ruth Barton, as the parents; Ardith Silk, as a visiting girl friend; Phyllis Zeisler, Nancy Edgeworth, and Marjorie McCracken, as the town gossips; and Thelma Caraboa, as the family maid.

Uncle Cy, Bob Mehrer, must have done something wrong, for Aunt Winnona, Louise Simpson, in a fit of anger, threatens him with her "umbrella." Paul, Francis Somers, and Jean, Frances Hattenburg, try to hold them back as shown in the picture at the right.

The Hi-Y and Tri-K Clubs

The bang of a gavel; the usual "meeting will come to order" from President Willard Drazy; the purpose of the club given by Vice-President Vivian Lock; the minutes of the last meeting intoned by Secretary-Treasurer Francis Somers. All this and more became acutely familiar to the thirty-two members of the Hi-Y Club of Kankakee High during the past twelve-months.

In the years to come the present Hi-Y'ers will happily reminisce over the activities in which they participated during their '39-'40 membership. Assorted bean suppers, interesting speakers, the gym and pool at times, general bull sessions, and just meetings occupied the Wednesday night gatherings at the "Y." Probably the high spot in the social events was the annual Girl Reserve party given them. Later a skating party was thrown for the G. R.'s in return by the boys from the Hi-Y.

The club sponsored the sale of pencils imprinted with the basketball schedule in order to allay the expense incurred when they gave the footballers their yearly banquet.

The football banquet featured as principal speaker Ade Schumacher, assistant coach at Northwestern University. Affable Jack Nance performed the master of ceremonies' duties. Coaches C. B. Harrison and Eugene Dykstra also spoke.

The Hi-Y and Tri-K boys took charge of the city administration in the fall. Willard Drazy took over the mayor's office for the day; Francis Somers was city clerk, Vivian Lock acted as chief of police; and the rest of the members acted as aldermen, firemen, and policemen. Harry Schrey represented the group at the older boys' conference at Wheaton, Illinois. The Hi-Y also sponsored a basketball team which participated in the intra-mural sports. The less said about this the better, however.

Sponsors of the Hi-Y were Keith Smith, faculty adviser; Fred Stith, Jr., local attorney; and J. E. Robertson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Kankakee.

Vying with the senior Hi-Y for boys' club honors in Kankakee High, is the junior organization, the Tri-K. Its membership is comprised of boys in their freshman-sophomore years, who later may be eligible for membership in the Hi-Y.

Those chosen for positions as officers the first semester were Richard Piersol, president; Orville Busse, vice-president; and Jack Swaim, secretary-treasurer. The office of sergeant-at-arms was created the second semester in order to allow more members to become officers. At the beginning of the second semester Bill Leavitt was installed as president; Leslie Gates was elected vice-president; George Morrow filled the secretary-treasurer spot. The newly elected sergeant-at-arms was Richard Piersol.

The boys entered their team in the intra-mural basketball league, and, believe it or not, faired better than their illustrious older friends in the Hi-Y. They helped the Hi-Y in their annual party given for the Girl Reserves; occupied quite a few offices in the annual Boys' Day ceremonies; sponsored many bean suppers; and enjoyed varied talks by local business men who instructed the boys in vocational work and in subjects of general interest.

Sponsors of the Tri-K were Raymond Harris, assistant principal, and J. E. Robertson, local Y. M. C. A. secretary.

INTRAMURAL
Sport

At the end of the intramural basketball season the Seniors led the league with seven straight victories. The winners forged ahead with little trouble. Kendall led the Seniors with 68 points.

The Juniors tied the Tri-K for second place. The Sophomores and Hi-Y finished the season third and fourth. The Freshmen, with no wins and seven losses, were last.

Eighty-seven boys participated in softball, making it the most successful sport on the intramural program organized a year ago. Mr. Raymond Harris directed the games, which were played after school at a local park.

High honors of the season went to Economos' Kalo Specials, who were undefeated. Second place fell to Carrahers West-Siders, who lost only one game.

Ping-pong made its debut in boys' 1939-40 intramural sports. Mr. Harris supervised the matches, which were held at the Y. M. C. A. every Monday night.

A large group of enthusiastic boys participated in this sport, but since there were not enough tables for all, only eight finished the season—L. Cook, F. Somers, G. Helopoulos, C. Economos, W. Deneau, B. Williamson, A. Faford, and E. Clark.

For the first time in its history, Kankakee High adopted wrestling as an extra-curricular activity. About ten boys received daily instruction under Mr. Arthur Spivey, hired by the government. Because this instruction came from outside the school, wrestling could not become an interscholastic sport. Its sole purpose was for recreation and physical development.

On

CAMPUS

And Off

Boys and girls get together for fun and friendship's sake. School practically bubbles over with life all year 'round, and jollity lurks near every open locker.

"Watch out, here comes some snow." Wow! A ball of snow goes zooming through the air straight at the girl. But, wham! She doesn't like it, so she throws some back. A snowball fight is on, and Patty Poyer and Vergil Shaw give you a few pointers on just how to "pack a mean wallop."

Some like their sports indoors. Harry Schrey and Patty Moore talk over that ping-pong game. "I would have won," says Pat, "but—." "That's what I know," responds Harry, in the idiom of the campus.

"Its steadiness that counts in any game." Bowling is no exception. Eileen Phillips and Ramon LaCoste go into battle, all smiles. Eileen has a gutter ball; Ramon yells, "That's close."

But if it's snow fights or ping-pong, it's something else to hold your attention. There's always a tea dance to attend and the iron fence around the school to sit on and chat. Or you can drift down town for a coke.

Two vehicles to take you down town are "The Jitterbug" and "Pea-Oh." Sometimes you have to help them get there, but that's fun, too.

Athletic Ways

of K. H. S. Girls

The group of smiling girls, upper left, are the K Mermaids. In navy suits with white emblems are Wamba, Larrigan, Lower, Cotsones, Hodgson, Hollister, Bonser, Palmateer, Volkmann, Simpson, Kunde, Bland, Mullinix, Westcott, Neuman, Mann, and Busse.

SPLASH! And up bob the happy faces of the K Mermaids. These twenty girls organized last year to improve their skill in aquatic sports. Under the leadership of President Mona Ray Mann and Swimming Manager Marion Westcott, the girls presented a display for open house, gained new heights in their May water show, and sponsored two co-recreational splash parties.

To be an expert in almost every sport is the aim of every girl who is a member of the Girls' Athletic Association. The club is organized for recreation rather than for competition.

Basketball, volleyball, neucomb, badminton, tumbling, baseball, ping-pong, and hockey are some of the activities which keep the girls interested. A new sport in K. H. S. is fencing. The equipment was purchased with the money received from selling candy at the basketball games.

The officers, Alvera Hamlyn, Loretta Tyralski, Melba Stella, and Mona Ray Mann, under the guidance of Miss Anne Nichols, all encouraged the forty members to develop healthy bodies and strong characters. Playdays, hamburger fries, a Christmas party, and the spring banquet added the social touches of the year.

To be admitted to the G. A. A., a girl must have earned 100 points by participation in sports and keeping health rules. Awards are presented throughout the year to outstanding G. A. A.'ers.

Much to the disgust of the seniors, the juniors won the finals of the interclass basketball tournament. Leona Millon managed at least one hundred girls in this main event of the season.

"We won! We won!"—and so another game in the inter-homeroom volleyball tournament ended. The students responded whole-heartedly in this first attempt at co-recreation, and some unknown talent was revealed.

Exhibiting their skill at open house, the girls' gym classes proved that they were steady, lithe, alert, and had all the ability that tumbling requires.

"Watch the birdie"—only not for the photographer, but to win the game. Badminton has been very popular since it was introduced two years ago. Like many other sports, it requires speed and agility, excellent footwork and good judgment. Rita Sovinski was this year's manager.

Three of the most popular tables at K. H. S. were the ping-pong tables in the cafeteria. People were eager both to play and to watch. If a tournament had been held, Dorothy Schultz would probably have been the winner, since her ability as a ping-pong player was outstanding.

Young America Does Its Fighting On The Gridiron

Captain Wendell Betts, upper left, guard and elected leader of the freshman-sophomore eleven, was noted for his hard-driving game. After a smashing victory in the first attack, the "lights" went on to win three of the following games played. Plenty of reserve power on the squad indicates that prospects are good for a strong 1940 season.

Memories and Heroes

Into the pages of history turns the football season of 1939. Never to be forgotten are the Kays' victories over Calumet City and Harvey. These teams had dragged Kankakee into defeat for the past fifteen years. This season, Calumet City bowed, 6 to 0, under the lights of their own field. A like incident occurred later on Alumni Field, as the Kays registered a 12 to 9 win over Harvey.

At the start of the season, Coaches Charles Harrison and Eugene Dykstra, anticipating a somewhat weak team, were surprised to find a capable group of boys to handle the job. Alternating at end were Schnell, Goodberlet, and Morrison, exceptionally strong players. At tackle were Alberts, who received first team positions on the All-South Suburban and on Pat Harmon's All-State team, and R. Anderson, who won South Suburban recognition.

Regular guards were Lock and McCullough. Lock, who held a record of over one thousand consecutive minutes of playing in games during four years of competition, was made captain. McCullough played well enough to get a first string position regardless of this being his first year on the squad. The pivot position was managed by Heine, whom both coaches regarded as a very good center.

Coach Harrison felt more secure about the backfield, since every post was held by a veteran of one or more years. Snyder, at quarterback, was probably the most outstanding blocker on the team and one of the hardest workers. O. Rorem and Johnson, at halfback, were considered the spark plugs of the team; Johnson won a place on the first All-South Suburban team and on the Chicago Daily News All-State team. The best punter Kankakee has had in recent years was Burns, fullback.

When injuries dogged the path of the Maroons, reliable substitutes had to be ready for the call to battle—Christensen, E. Anderson, and Clawson, ends; Feldmann and Leavitt, tackles; Warren, Hisel, and Ranz, guards; and Dornburg, center. In the backfield, Smith, Edwards, Lee, and Arseneau, halfbacks; Clawson, quarterback; and Drolet, fullback, made up the roster of substitutes.

Memories of the individual games also stay distinctly in mind. Johnson's 65-yard spurt at Danville began the season with a definite bang. The largest crowd in the year presented itself at the Streator game. Players and coaches alike agree that the Calumet City game was the most thrilling, because it meant the breaking of a two-season losing streak. This rallying from their slump renewed the Kays' determination, and they finished the season with three wins and five defeats.

The freshman-sophomore squad also enjoyed a successful season with three wins and two defeats. Captained all season by Betts, regular guard, they worked most industriously for the glory of the school.

Memories of the Wellermen will be the superb running of E. Rorem, the blocking of English, the line play of Schierholz, and the determination of Milligan in playing a full quarter with a broken arm.

Varsity letters were awarded to L. Alberts, R. Anderson, G. Arseneau, J. Burns, E. Clawson, J. Dornburg, G. Edwards, L. Feldmann, W. Goodberlet, E. Heine, D. Hisel, G. Johnson, V. Lock, P. McCullough, H. Morrison, V. Schnell, W. Smith, D. Snyder, W. Warren, and O. Rorem.

Freshman-sophomore letters went to W. Betts, K. Anderson, A. Brown, F. Cahan, B. Carpenter, W. Cartier, W. Clarey, R. Dusenbury, R. English, W. Leavitt, E. Rorem, J. Schierholz, K. Skinner, D. Spohrer, W. Wilson, and A. Milligan.

Managers who received letters were C. Eckhardt, C. Green, and R. Nielsen.

All Is Not Work For Players And Coaches

Ratifying its constitution on the fourteenth of September, 1939, the official honor society for all athletes of Kankakee High, better known as the K Club, came into being.

The thirteen charter members elected as their first president, John Burns; vice-president, Duane Snyder; and secretary-treasurer, Lloyd Oakley.

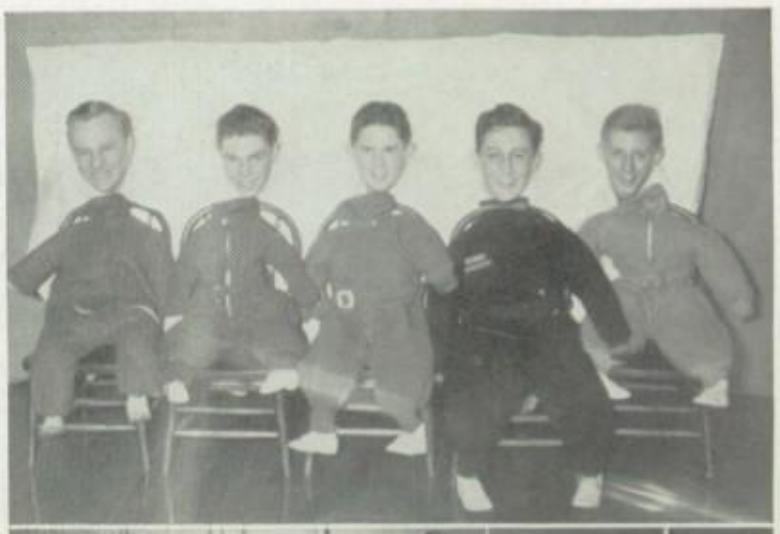
The purpose of the club is to promote better sportsmanship among the athletes, to build up and maintain a better school spirit, and finally to give just honor to boys who have won gold K's or benefited the school in another way.

For the "baby" of the high school clubs, the K Club did a man's size work. In the early days of 1940, the club staged the first "Faculty vs Businessmen" basketball game. The net proceeds were $87. Along in the middle of March came another first—first basketball banquet, and a "stag affair."

A silver football, basketball, or track shoe was awarded by the club to the graduating seniors of the organization. The boy chose, if he participated in more than one sport, the award he wanted.

Awards went to John Burns, football; Duane Snyder, basketball; Lloyd Oakley, track; Fenton Bourgeois, track; Herbert Ranz, football; Linn Kendall, football; Lane Kohan, track; and Vivian Lock, football.

Sissies all, snapped in an hilarious pep assembly, are Alberts, Snyder, Anderson, Burns, and Oakley. Below, getting ready for the Faculty-Businessmen game are Robertson, Harris, Lambert, Weiler, Changnon, Smith, and Dykstra.



The Basketball Season—On and Off The Court

Anderson, Lang, and Alberts go after the ball at practice as Spangler looks on. "Sink that bucket," yells the crowd, as Lee leaps for a shot. Jeneary waits for the rebound. "It's a jump," calls the "ref" as Schnell and a Danville man reach for the ball. Oakley and Lang get ready.

Healing the bruises after the battle, Managers Goodberlet and Eckhardt patch up Williamson and Anderson, while Oakley weighs himself. Boy, is this shower great! Lightweights Nielsen, Pearson, and Carraher cool off after practice. "Yea, Kankakee," yells Cheerleader Shaw.

The RECORD

From the roar of the crowd and the swish of a ball through a basket come echoes of another basketball season. Gathering momentum at the start, the Kays seemed destined to new honors, but a second-semester slump left them with only an ordinarily successful record of fifteen wins and twelve defeats.

Spangler, forward, paced his teammates to well over 100 points for his one semester of competition. Snyder, forward, then became the consistent point-getter and was elected honorary captain at the season's end.

Back at center and guard for the fourth year was Johnson, backbone of the team. Alberts, dependable guard, held his position for the third year. Burns played regular center.

On the first squad, Coach Harrison found other capable boys whom he frequently called upon to start or substitute—Anderson, guard and center; Lang, guard; Downs, Oakley, Schnell, and Henderson, forwards.

The Kay lightweight team, which ended the season with sixteen wins and seven defeats, showed signs of being championship material all season. A Kankakee fan could always rely on a good, fast, and interesting preliminary.

Clawson kept Coach Gene Dykstra's boys together from his center position. Jack, Biskey, Pearson, and Carraher were forwards; Busse, reserve center; and Lee, Green, and Drolet, guards. Clawson and Lee were elected co-captains.

Varsity letters were given to L. Alberts, R. Anderson, J. Burns, J. Downs, T. Henderson, G. Johnson, R. Lang, R. Spangler, and D. Snyder. Managers' letters went to W. Goodberlet and R. Dusenbury.

Lightweight letters were awarded to R. Drolet, B. Jack, L. Biskey, L. Devereaux, O. Busse, E. Carrigan, C. Green, G. Edwards, E. Clawson, and P. Lee. Lightweight managers' letters were given to J. Schneider and E. Clark. Freshman numerals were bestowed upon J. Swaim, A. Wesselhoff, R. Rieken, M. Lehnus, W. Condon, F. Miller, D. Holtman, R. Goodman, E. LaCost, and R. Nielsen.

Coach Harrison, better known as "Uncle Charlie," came to K. H. S. thirteen years ago and by his confidence and interest in his players' ability has made a place for himself in the hearts of Kankakeeans.

The Chittums, Emighs, and Rays of Todcy

The crack of a gun and racing feet all over the United States are pounding over a cinder track. Beginning the last lap of the athletic year, the Kay thin-clads won the Onarga meet, 74-38; placed seventh at the Pontiac relays; bowed to the Herscher tracksters on the home oval, 63-55; and placed second in a triangular meet with Harvey and Calumet.

The 100 and 220 yard dashes were run by Oakley, Lee, Carraher, and Rorem. The 440 position was taken over by Rorem, Carraher, and Brown. Distance runners were Kohan, Betts, and Drolet, half-milers; Jones and Sutherland, milers. Goodberlet and Anderson ran the high hurdles; Lang and Erzinger, the lows.

Morrison and Goodberlet were high-jumpers; Oakley, Lang, and Henderson, broad-jumpers. Burns, Johnson, and Alberts put the shot and heaved the discus. The Senior relay team was composed of Lee, Oakley, Carraher, and Rorem. Coach Harrison supervised the track events; Coach Dykstra, the field.

Dusenbury, Clawson, and Piersol ran for the Juniors in the 50 and 100 yard dashes; Clawson and Dusenbury, in the 220; and Betts, in the 660. In field events, Clawson and Piersol starred as high-jumpers; Piersol, Dusenbury, and Cartier, broad-jumpers; and Clawson and Leavitt, weight-throwers. Swaim hurdled and Cartier and Nielsen pole-vaulted.

The Kankakee cinder-burners, who took second in the district and South Suburban last year, have yet to prove themselves this year in the district, state, and S. S. meets.

WORDS OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN:

"Getting the first Hundred Dollars is the hardest. The next comes easier."

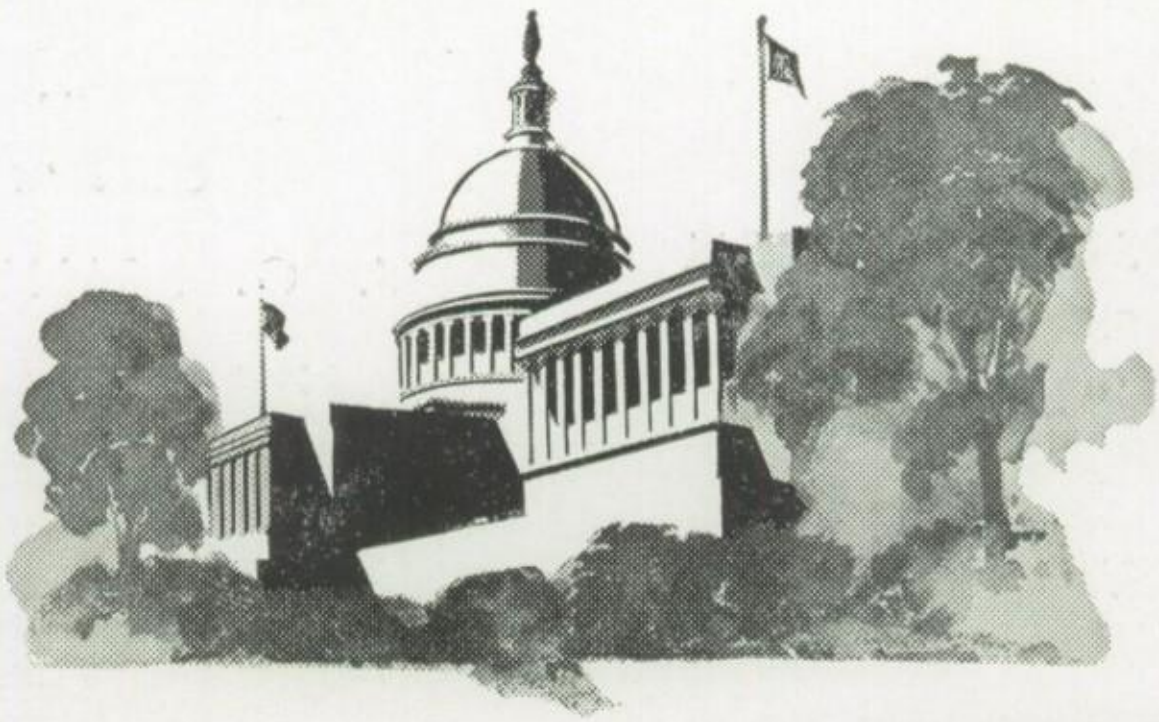
Turkey time — Everyone came back to school too full for words. Around Christmas



The buyword of a Nation

"SEARS" used to be just the name of a small-town railroad station agent up in Minnesota.

Today it's the buy word of the nation.

Such is the power of an idea.

Richard W. Sears had a sixth sense. Instinctively he sensed the possibilities of mass manufacture and mass distribution—much as Franklin must have sensed the possibilities of electricity when he drew the lightning down from the sky with a kite string—or Watt must have foreseen the future of steam when his tea-kettle lid whistled.

He knew that mass operation meant tearing down the fence between the "haves" and the "have-nots", and throwing the good things of life open to all.

Mixed with his vision was faith. He knew that, if he gave the people better goods for less money, they wouldn't let him down.

Nor was the unspoken covenant of faith one-sided—to make the thing work, the public had to believe in Sears, just as devoutly as Sears believed in the public.

Fifty-Four years have rolled by since Dick Sears sold that first watch.

It was a good watch. It kept good time. And it cost far less than any equally good watch had ever cost.

Since then America has been setting its watch by Sears promise to give more and charge less.

And because that promise has never been violated, "Sears" has come to be

—the buy word of a nation
